DISRESPECT FOR WYNNE. During the trial of Stahl in the Police Court, Mr. Noel's attitude was one of con on the witness stand and to the the sworn statements of Mr. Wynne and Mr. Eppert. The climax came during the examination of Mr. Wynne by Attorney Duncan. Mr. Noel prompted Mr. Duncan to ask the witness if Mr. Wynne, in a conversation with Mr. Noci at the Coumbfa Club, had not said that "if he had taken as much money from Fred Heier as some of the people had done he could not look him in the face?" The statement was indignantly refuted by Mr. Wynne then and afterward. The chairman of the committee declares no such conversation ever occurred. Mr. Noel also said, by inference, that Mr. Wynne and Mr. Eppert had not told the truth when they swore that he had told them there was no evidence against Logsdon after the pricking of the Stahl This was the straw that broke Noel's back with his employers. The committee came to the conclusion that an attorney who preferred to work with the enemies

Quarrymen Refuse to Organize. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., June 6.-It has become known here that an effort to organize the stone men of the colitic fields of Monroe county has failed. The men refused to join the union if it means that they must strike in sympathy with the stone workmen in and about Bedford. The operators here guarantee their workmen such prices as may result from a settlement of the contest at Bedford. It is no secret that the Walsh and Consolidated interests at Bedford, which are much the largest of the oolitic stone companies, have notified their workmen that under no conditions will the union be recognized, but, on the other hand, if it is a question of wages, the strike can soon be settled. Most of the quarrymen out of work have left Bedford. They could not get work in the Monroe county field.

The representatives of the men are as follows: Grant Jacobs and John Hartley, Elwood; B. L. Bartlett and Charles Alvey, New Castle, Pa.; H. E. Barrett, McKeesport, Pa.; W. J. Madine, Pittsburg; Benjamin Teegarden, Martin's Ferry, O.; William

Edwards, Chester, Pa. The men are seeking to secure improved working conditions rather than a direct increase in wages and in view of the fact that the company has signed the Amalgamated Association, or hot mill, scale, harmonious conference is anticipated.

ESCAPE CUT OFF.

Two Hundred People in Black Walnut Village in Peril.

ST. LOUIS, June 6 .- Two hundred people in the village of Black Walnut, on the north bank of the Missouri, twenty-five miles northwest of St. Louis, are surrounded by rapidly-rising water and all means of escape are cut off. A boat may be sent to their rescue. Sheriff Dierkes, at St. Charles, telephoned that the water was rising, and unless the people were rescued speedily there would be great loss of life before morning. The Conlogue levee, just south of East St. Louis, broke at midnight and the 200 colored families who inhabit that district were driven from their homes. Many had narrow escapes from drowning. The levee suddenly gave way and the water poured through in a torrent, but the people had been warned and were on the alert, and all got to higher ground in safety.

Effect of the Flood.

The floods in and around St. Louis are likely to cause a temporary increase of city. The National stockyards at East St. Louis are almost entirely submerged, and but one shipment has been received here from that point during the last two days. Some shipments that usually go to East St. Louis will come here. The Vandalia trains were reported on time, with about the regular run of business, and this was also true of the Big Four line. AN APPEAL FOR AID.

Washout Near Marion.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., June 6 .- A heavy downpour of rain this afternoon damaged a Big Four Railroad bridge that spans Massey creek, in North Marion, and also washed out some of the railroad track. The northbound passenger train, due here at 1:47 p. m., was nearly wrecked, but the engineer was able to stop the train just before it reached the washout. The streets of Marion were flooded, and in some places the water stood three feet deep, causing a suspension of street-car service for nearly an hour. Several small bridges in the country were washed out. The rain was the heaviest to fall in Marion in recent years.

Corn fields are so soft that horses sink to their knees, and the weeds are so high and thick that the fields resemble pasture lands. The situation locally is critical in the extreme for the corn crop. The damage so far has been caused by water standing in the rows made by the planters, and this has drowned the young shoots of corn. Many farmers are not through planting, but with good weather the fields would not be in condition to plant in less than a week.
